NEW P. O. SITE IS CHOSEN

BUILDING GOES BY COURTHOUSE

Senator McAdoo Telephones Word Of Selection To Postmaster Jos. Scherrer

The site for the new Placerville postoffice is the corner at Main Street and Bedford Avenue.

This is according to a telephone message received Sunday night from Senator William G. McAdoo by Postmaster Joseph Scherrer.

Mr. Scherrer was informed by the Senator that he has word from the Procurement Division of the Treasury department that the site proposed by Mr. Winkelman has been approved, he said.

A. C. Winkelman, with the Anderson Real Estate Agency, said the property is owned by Miss Alma Hardie and Mrs. Fred Irwin and consists of two adjoining lots affording a Main Street frontage of 115 feet and a frontage on the Bedford Avenue side of 130 feet.

This frontage on the Bedford Avenue side abuts the "Moyle lot," a city-owned public Park, which is the corner lot.

Mr. Scherrer said he is awaiting further information. A total of $105,000 has been appropriated for the structure, he said and the building, as far as Postmaster Scherrer has learned, will be a postoffice buliding, exclusively.

Caminoan Ends Life Sunday

Concern Over State Of Health Prompts Fred Rice To Slay Self With .12 Gauge Shotgun

Fred Rice, of Camino, took his own life Sunday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock by contriving to discharge a .12 gauge shotgun with his foot, while the muzzle of the gun rest against his chin.

Only reason thus far ascribed for the act is that Mr. Rice was concerned over the state of his health and became despondent. He was said to have been under a doctor's care for the past year.

According to Coroner A. J. Orelli, Mr. Rice left a brief note addressed to Mrs. Rice and addressing her affectionately but making no reference as to the purpose of his act.

The coroner states that Mr. Rice went into the yard at the rear of their place of business about 3:30 o'clock Sunday and sat down upon the lawn beneath a tree and succeeded in discharging the gun by pressing the trigger with his toe.

The body is in the care of Memory Chapel. No date is set at this time for the inquest.

In addition to his wife, Mr. Rice is survived by two-step-children and by two brothers, Henry, of Turlock, and Chester, of Los Angeles; and two sisters, Mrs. Opal Justus, of Los Angeles and Mrs. Bessie Browner, of Boulder City. He was a native of Kansas, born June 29, 1901.

Tentative plans are that the funeral services will be held Wednesday, to be followed by cremation.

THIRTEEN PUPILS GET CERTIFICATES AT DIAMOND SPRINGS

Thirteen pupils of the Diamond Springs School received their diplomas at graduation exercises to be held at the school last Friday evening.

The graduates are: Harry De Wolf, Eleanor Hall, Georgia Harris, Katie Krein, Virginia Lee, Barbara Moore, Laura Petersen, Elva Pitman, Virginia Pitman, Elton Rupley; Sidney Ward Everette Williams and Richard Ybright.

Mrs. P. F. Volz, who spent the weekend at Jackson with Mr. Volz, reports that Mr. Volz is showing some improvement in his effort to regain his health. Mr. Volz has been at Jackson for the past two weeks, stopping with Dr. and Mrs. H. O. Lovell, and following a course of treatment prescribed by the doctor.

VICTOR—W. Lee O'Daniel, novice politician who wrecked Texas precedent by using a hillbilly band in his campaign, who gained the Democratic nomination for Governor by a landslide. With a clear majority of 17,963 over 11 candidates, O'Daniel's election to the governorship was assured. The "hillbilly flour salesman," who toured the state with his sound truck and band, campaigned on the Golden Rule and against "those professional politicians."

MURDER CHARGED BY GRAND JURY

Mrs. Marogna Declines To Testify In Session Held On Monday Morning

Mrs. Ora Marogna, 46, who, according to authorities, has confessed the murder of Mrs. Sadie Bunton at Shingle Springs early Wednesday morning of last week, will be arraigned in Superior Court Tuesday morning on a charge of murder.

The county Grand Jury, which met Monday morning at the call of District Attorney Henry S. Lyon, returned a true-bill supporting that charge after Mrs. Marogna's refusal to testify when called before the body.

The grand jury heard testimony of a Mrs. Dawson, a sister-in-law of the victim, Mrs. Bunton; from Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Palen, of Shingle, and from Deputy Sheriff Ralph Jones and Traffic Officer Vladimir Sabich.

Dr. A. A. McKinnon testified as to the nature of the fatal wound and Mrs. Marogna was called and declined, presumably on advice of counsel, to testify.

It was reported that a new development brought to light in the case before the Grand Jury was the statement by Ivan Palen that he had been engaged by Mrs Marogna to drive with her to a ranch property which she owns near Latrobe, where she obtained the gun allegedly used in the killing.

This, Palen is reported to have told the grand jury, was about seven o'clock on the evening before the killing.

It had been previously reported by officers that Mrs. Marogna had admitted slaying Mrs. Bunton about 12:30 o'clock Wednesday morning after laying in wait at Shingle for a period of about three hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jaspar, of Purity Stores, figured in an auto accident on the Jacktone cutoff Sunday. Mrs. Jaspar is in the hospital at Modesto and Harry is confined at home.

H. V. Jespersen, of Cash Mercantile Stores Company, is spending this week in San Francisco, at the annual fall "Market Week," selecting a wide assortment of ready-to-wear merchandise for the local store. He expects to be back the latter part of the week with the new shipment.

Summit Center Meets Sunday Evening

The regular meeting of Summit Farm Center for August will be held at the schoolhouse on Sunday evening, August 7, at 8 o'clock. The meeting was set for Sunday, according to Chairman Lyman A. Bender, at the suggestion of members of the center who felt that Sunday is a day on which a larger proportion of the center membership will be able to get away from farm duties to attend the meeting.

Summit is the only center in the county meeting regularly through the summer months.

SUMMIT WRECK KILLS WOMAN

Los Angeles Party Figures In Tragic Accident Sunday On Meyers Grade Curve

Mrs. Ruth Anne Schoedsack, 80, of 532 South Hobart Street, Los Angeles, was killed, and her daughter and another woman companion were injured, about 11 o'clock Sunday morning when the machine in which they were riding was over-turned on Meyers grade, at Echo summit.

According to information gained by Coroner A. J. Orelli, the three were driving toward Placerville and were ascending the grade and had reached a point explained as being "the first hairpin curve below the summit."

Mrs. Schoedcask's daughter, Venvenuta Schoedsack, also of Los Angeles, was driving and succeeded in negotiating the curve but for some reason the wheels of the car failed to straighten out and follow the highway, but continued to circle around, with the result that the car plunged off the grade and landed bottom-side-up on the highway at the beginning of the curve it had begun seconds before.

Whether the driver could have been absorbed with the scenery, or whether there was a defect in the steering was not immediately established.

The body of Mrs. Schoedsack was brought to Placerville by Coroner A. J. Orelli while Miss Schoedsack and their companion, Mrs. Mary Krause, also of Los Angeles, were removed to Dr. M. B. Hadden's emergency hospital at Al Tahoe.

Mrs. Schoedsack's son was notified of the tragedy and arrived in Placerville Sunday afternoon late by airplane from Los Angeles. He continued immediately to the bedside of his sister and hoped to be able to remove her and Mrs. Krause today to Los Angeles. It was reported they were not critically hurt.

Echo Lakes Home Lost In Fire

Woman Seriously Burned Saturday As Blaze Destroys Dr. Sproul's Cabin

Upper Echo Lake summer homes area was the scene of a fire Saturday afternoon which destroyed the $4,000 summer home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon Sproul, of Berkeley, and seriously injured Mrs. William G Donald, also of Berkeley, who with her husband had rented the Sproul home for the season.

Dr. Sproul is traveling this summer with his family in Europe and had rented the home to Dr. and Mrs. McDonald. Dr. McDonald is a member of the U. C. medical school staff.

Mrs. Donald received first degree burns of the face, chest and body as gas fumes ignited while she was pouring gasoline from a bottle in the kitchen of the home.

She was taken to a Reno hospital for emergency treatment and from there flown by plane to Oakland.

Mrs. Donald's three children, a girl and two boys, were with her at the lake but not in the house when the fire started.

Prompt action of Echo lake home owners and Forest Service crews prevented the flames from spreading to about 150 other summer homes in the vicinity.

A boat and automobile were the only property saved at the Sproul home. Loss was set at $4,000.

A burning gas jet or pilot light on the kitchen range is believed by investigators to have ignited the gas fumes.

Twelve Hurt As "L" Cars Crash In New York

NEW YORK, (UP) — Twelve persons were injured, none seriously, today when two elevated trains collided on a trestle 100 feet above the street. A three car train containing 75 persons was leaving the 110th Street station of the Ninth Avenue line when an empty seven car train rounded a curve at full speed and crashed into the rear car.

8,004 IN COUNTY QUALIFIED TO VOTE IN AUGUST PRIMARY ELECTION

Registration Exceeds Previous High Mark By Approximately 1,000; Democratic Enrollment Almost Double Total Of Republicans; Blairs Largest Precinct

Registration for the August Primary election totals 8,004 in El Dorado County. This is the largest registration in recent years and exceeds the previous high total by approximately 1,000.

The figure was made public Saturday morning by County Clerk Arthur J. Koletzke upon the completion of tabulations based on the reports of registration deputies as of the close of registration on July 21, coupled with the all ready existing enrollment under the permanent registration plan.

Of the 8,004 voters there are 5,112 Democrats, 2,570 Republicans, 23 registered as Socialists, 9 in the Prohibition party, 11 Progressives and 16 in the Townsend party.

The largest precinct registration in the county is in Blair's, with 643 voters. Second largest is Placerville No. 8 with 567 and then Georgetown, with 504. Placerville No. 10 is next largest with 474, then Diamond Springs, with 453, and El Dorado with 418. Lake Valley has 387 votes.

The smallest precinct registration it at Mountain Quarries, with 24. Indian Diggings has 46 votes and Gold Hill, Negro Hill, Salmon Falls, Clarksville, Nashville, Latrobe, Fairplay, Mosquito, Grizzly Flat and Somerset all have less than 100 voters registered.

RIVER VICTIM MURDERED

Bullet Hole In Skull, Number Of Shells Nearby Tell Tale; Identity May Be Learned

The body of a man with a bullet hole in the skull and no evidence of a gun in the vicinity presents a murder mystery which will be nearer solution when authorities learn the man's name.

The corpse is that found about three weeks ago on the Middle Fork of the American River below Volcanoville. Coroner A. J. Orelli, who was called on the case at that time, was unable to bring the body out, owing to high-water in the river which made it impossible for him to reach a trail. Orelli wrapped the body in a rubber sheet and buried it in a shallow grave to await lower water.

Sunday he brought the body to Placerville.

The coroner revealed Monday morning for the first time that the body when at first found, had been buried partially in sand at the river shore.

Mr. Orelli said also that a closer examination of the body Sunday showed a bullet hole in the skull and that he and those with him dug into the sand for a radius of ten feet from where the body lay, but could find no gun.

Near the body they did find a discharged .38 shell and at a point about twenty-five feet distant, five more empty shells .38 shells were found.

Coroner Orelli stated that there was nothing in the man's pockets and that one of them was fund inside out. The man's shoes were previously reported as missing but Sunday one of his boots was found under the body. The other boot was missing.

The corpse could not have drifted to the spot where it was found, the coroner pointed out, for the man's hat, a Stetson, purchased at a Reno haberdashery, was under his head as though for a pillow.

Supervisor William Breedlove, who was at the scene Sunday with the coroner reported when he came to Placerville Monday morning that he has reasons to believe that the man may soon be identified. Mr. Breedlove said he believes that he, himself, had seen the man in the Georgetown vicinity within recent years and is hopeful that parties he intends to question may be able to supply the man's name.

CRYSTAL MINE PROMISES TO BECOME MAJOR PRODUCER

SHINGLE SPRINGS — Yielding ore from five of its six levels, the Crystal mine, three miles south of here, has been steadily developed into one of the Mother Lode district's major quartz producers, says a Sacramento paper.

A 500-foot incline shaft has developed the property to an approximate vertical depth of 400 feet.

Powerful hoisting and other equipment has been installed and the new 125-ton ball mill and cyanide plant placed in operation.

The storage dam on French creek, 18 feet high and about 160 feet in length, is capable of a storage capacity of 5,000,000 gallons of water.

The rich placer deposits of the Crystal property have attracted operators for considerable more than half a century.

Since 1935 control of the property has been held by two Los Angeles men, C. P. Johnson and L. A. Pockman.

Dr. D. W. Babcock returned Saturday evening from Letterman Hospital, where he had spent two weeks on active duty as an officer of the reserve Army Medical Corps.

Setting a new scoring record for the Placer-Nevada league, the Colfax Lions defeated Roseville Wolf and Royer, 30 to 13 Sunday.

In a second playoff game, the Rose-Tigers whipped Loomis 16 to 9. Colfax and Roseville Tigers thus went into a tie for third place in the league standings.

Wolf and Royer and Loomis will play next Sunday with the winner to get a berth in the league playoff.

FOUR SUFFER CUTS IN HIGHWAY MISHAP SATURDAY NIGHT

Burr T. Snyder, bacteriologist for the city of Sacramento, his wife, their daughter, Mardell, and Mrs. John B. Maloney, wife of the Sacramento superintendent of city recreation, were all cut and bruised in an accident near Twin Bridges, Saturday night.

Snyder was driving from Camp Sacramento to the Snyder cabin near Kyburz when their car sideswiped a trailer pulled by a car driven by Leslie Potters of Oakland. The injured were treated by the doctor in the Y. M. C. A. camp in the vicinity and reported as not seriously hurt.

Mrs. Kramp Will Face Arraignment Tuesday

The case of Mrs. Mary Kramp, bound over in a preliminary hearing about ten days ago, and held under $2,000 bail to answer a charge of burglary, will be called for arraignment in Superior Court Tuesday morning.

This is according to District Attorney Henry S. Lyon, who has filed a formal information in the case.

Mr. Llon states that the charges of burglary which were brought against Dick Crowder in the same case, are still pending. The defendant Crowder is a hospital patient at Palo Alto.

Mrs. B. E. Haslam and children, Jean and Lynn, have returned to their home at Pilot Hill after a visit of several days at Oakland.

BETTER ROADS TO BE ASKED

Highway Association Hopes For Large Attendance At Conference On Friday

Notices were mailed Monday by the Mother Lode Highway Association in co-operation with the El Dorado County Chamber of Commerce, calling the attention of parties interested to the meeting early in July, the Mother Lode Highway Association named Alec Ross, of Jackson, as general spokesman for the association.

Each county represented in the association will have its individual spokesman whose remarks will supplement those of Mr. Ross and for El Dorado County H. E. Dillinger has been asked to serve.

According to Wallace M. Ripley, secretary of the chamber of commerce, he has word from the Mother Lode Highway Association that notices of the meeting are being mailed early enough that they should, by Tuesday noon, be delivered to all parties known to be particularly interested in highway development.

It is expected that the delegation from the chamber is of some significance since this is the first time in years that the counties of the Mother Lode have met with the highway commission to present a co-ordinated program for development.

POOR WAY TO PICK APPLES

PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, (UP)—It rained a steady downpour here in New York last week and I, for one, see a connection between the weeping heavens and the rather amazing batch of edicts hatched by the New York State Boxing Commission on Wednesday.

The rain kept the members of the commission indoors and having nothing better to do they undoubtedly sat down and thought. Time has proved that when boxing commissioners think the results are more than apt to be alarming. They were this time. With one sweep of the pen the Honorable Messrs. (pronounced messers) took John Henry Lewis' light-heavyweight title away from him and declared the championship vacant in this state; told Al Hostak his victory over middleweight champion Freddie Steele didn't mean a thing to them and that he was not the champion in their eyes, and threw the flyweight division into a fine tangle by ordering an elimination tournament to decide a champion.

You know, the more rulings the commissioners give off, the more one realizes that they were born too late. They should have lived in the feudal days, when every nobleman had his castle and jesters. What a following the commissioners would have had in the role of royal entertainers. In my mind's eye I can see a nobleman, worn by a strenuous day of hunting, perhaps, or drooping in spirit after a mighty meal in the banquet hall, calling out:

"Send in the commissioners three. I want a laugh."

And in they come—the good General, the good Mr. Wear, and the rugged Mr. Brown, resplendent in cap and bells—to make the castle walls ring with laughter with their merry rulings.

I think the feudal lords would have been amused by the commission's recent rulings just as we of today are. Take the business of taking the light-heavyweight crown away from Lewis, for example. Everybody knows that champions are crowned and dethroned right out in the ring and not in a mahogany-smelling office in a lower New York skyscraper. Lewis will be champion of the 175-pounders until he is beaten. The commission can place crowns on the heads of fighters until they wear themselves out, but the public won't take those crowns any more seriously than if the commission were bestowing Panama hats.

Two and two make four, but the refusal to recognize Al Hostak as the middlewegiht champion doesn't make anything, particularly not sense. When a fellow knocks the champion kicking in the first round of a title bout it should make him the new ruler. What does the commission want Hostak to do—shoot Steele with a shotgun?

No, they want him to meet Apostoli and Corbett, a brace of challengers. In other words, Hostak can't win the title by beating the champion but must win it by licking a couple of pretenders. I may be old-fashioned, but I always thought that when you beat the head man you became head man yourself.

But enough of this. I positively refuse to allow the boxing commission to get me excited. I'll say this, though. If that Edgar Bergen ever needs a new Char---Oh, skip it.

Fancy Jellies

A rose leaf, geranium leaf or bit of pineapple or quince may give its especial flavor to apple jelly. To keep leaves suspended in jelly, so arrange a fork that it will hold them in place until the jelly is almost cool.

Jelly in different colored layers may be made by tinting fruit jelly with fruit coloring, as green or red, and adding one layer after the under one has become set. Marachino cherries, sliced very thin, may be dropped into clear jelly when it is beginning to stiffen. Mint jelly may be made by adding mint extract to apple jelly. The juice of two or more fruits may be combined to make a "different" jelly.

THE Book Mark

By JANE VOILES

In the July number of the "Atlantic Monthly" Howard Mumford Jones the critic is having a conniption fit over the modern American novel. He says that novelists are writing only about frustration, violence and insanity. He demands a new deal in novels and proposes that novel readers go on a sit-down strike until they get the new deal.

But Mr. Jones seems to have gotten no further than looking at the novels of Hemingway, Faulkner, Farrel and the rest of the hard boiled boys. He complains that he can't find cultured human beings in any of the modern novels. Well, what about the novel that won the Pulitzer Prize this year, "The Late George Apley?"

In the best seller list today there are novels by American writers in which murder, rape, and seduction have little or no place. There is Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings' "The Yearling," Kenneth Roberts' "Northwest Passage," Rose Wilder Lane's "Freelands," Hervey Allen's "Action at Aquila," Clyde Davis' "The Great American Novel," Robert Nathan's "Spring in April."

The Hemingway - Faulkner - Farrel contingent are serving a purpose. They are breaking down a few old conventions, banishing some taboos but it must be remembered that before they were even writing, the books of Ellen Glasgow, Sinclair Lewis, Booth Tarkington, Willa Cather to name only a few, were going strong and it is highly probable that the books of this last group will continue to circulate when the others of the hard shelled type become literary curiosities. No, we don't think that a sit down strike is in order just yet.

Mr. Jones further laments the lack of ordinary homes in the modern novels. He seems to have run up against Chicago slums, shanties of tenant farmers in the south or New York pent houses. If it's the ordinary home he is looking for, Kathleen Norris turns them out with the speed of the most active Home Building Association. And in her homes you can always be sure of starched kitchen curtains, flowers in the window sill and chicken salad sandwiches in the ice box ready for a picnic.

* * *

We have been dipping into the stories of Ring Lardner. While Lardner was caster of the wise-crack, he didn't see the world exactly as a place of sweetness and light. Take the story "Haircut" in which the gabby barber tells the story of Jim Kendall the town jester. As the story is told, the life of the little town passes before the reader's eyes. It is "Main Street" told in a few pages. In "The Love Nest" the setting is different but the sardonic note is the same. A movie magnate marries a beautiful actress. They have a beautiful home and perfect children, yet the woman is trapped. She hasn't enough brains to get out of the trap so she drinks herself into forgetfulness. The way Lardner leads up to the woman's misery makes the story stay with you a long time after you have read it.

One of Lardner's best is "Champion." Midge Kelly the champ was a bad egg through and through. After kicking his crippled brother and striking his mother, he breezes out of town on a freight train. He wins a minor boxing match, is bought off from another match and is made to marry a girl whom he leaves the day after the ceremony. Luck is with him and he becomes a big shot in Boston. Finally he wins the championship in New York.

Lardner shows the unspeakable cad Midge move from squalid poverty to the garish lights and easy money of the ring. He becomes the hero of the day. Newspapers bear headlines about the "Kid in the gutter who makes good." Yes, but how did he make good? By biting every hand that had been held out to help him. "Champion" is a good indictment against the way we put heroes on pedestals. Some readers only get a laugh out of Lardner but readers who are more aware will see something beneath the laugh; the narrowness and the stupidity there is in life.

The present Spanish conflict is beginning to play a part in fiction. In Bruce Marshall's "Luckypenny" there are some vivid scenes of the Spanish front. Edith Roberts' has something to say about the Spanish scene in her new book "Reap the Whirlwind." "Pray to the Earth" Evelyn Eaton's new novel about Provencal peasants has some sharply focused pictures of the Spanish fight. As yet there has been nothing to equal Eliot Paul's "Life and Death of a Spanish Town."

Traveling "Arsenal" Held For Inquiry

Theodore Medlin, 68, was taken into custody Sunday evening by Sheriff George M. Smith as a result of an investigation launched by himself and highway patrol officers after receipt of a report of a man menacing another with a gun near Cedar Grove.

Medlin's car answered the description of the car which the alleged assailants had fled in, and in the car were found two shotguns and a small bore pistol, the sheriff reported.

Medlin was detained for investigation.

Speaking Of "Crates," Couple Tour U. S. In One-Cylinder Car

Mr. And Mrs. George C. Green, of Lambertville, New Jersey, Make Over-Night Stop At White Spot Auto Court; Travel In Car Bought Three Years Old In 1907 For $165

When it comes to "crates", George C. Green of Lambertville, N. J., insists that he is doing by land what Douglas C. Corrigan did by air, when the latter flew his "crate" from New York to Dublin.

Green arrived here Thursday in a single cylinder, curved dash Oldsmobile, 1904 model, which he bought for $165 in 1907 when it was 3 years old. He is touring the United States in it. Mr. and Mrs. Green stopped overnight at The White Spot Auto Court.

The machine is one of three Oldsmobiles of the same vintage which recently passed the rigid New Jersey state inspection.

The car is 34 years old and Green has had it in his possession since he was 21. He is now 52.

Green, who is the proprietor of a small machine shop at Lambertville, gave his "crate" a complete overhauling early this year, and with his wife started out to see Amercia.

The first leg of their journey took them to Niagara Falls. Then they crossed to Canada and returned to the United States at Detroit. They have since kept on going until they reached here and departed for the coast. Altogether they hope to cover 7,000 miles.

Green doesn't know how far he has driven the car in the 31 years he has owned it, but thinks from 1,000 to 2,000 miles annually. It has a speed of 30 miles and runs 28 on a gallon of gasoline. He can only carry five gallons, so stops are frequent. The wheels are fitted with motorcycle tires.

The reactions of people who pass him on the road—he never succeeds in passing them—are different, he said.

Rol Hall, 44, charged with defrauding an innkeeper, was taken into custody at Lake Tahoe Sunday by Sheriff George M. Smith and lodged in the county jail for a hearing before Justice of the Peace Roderic McCuish. Hall was said to have given his occupation as that of aviator and his home residence as Hollywood.

Up and Down Broadway

By JACK GAVER
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—From the way that things look now the topical revue is going to cut quite a figure in the impending theatrical season and credit for the attention which the commercial managers are turning to this musical lampooning of current problems and foibles can be claimed by the International Garment Workers Union, if it cares to do so.

It is the success of the union's production last fall of the revue "Pins and Needles," with the entire cast composed of bonafide I. L. G. W. U. members, in other words, amateur players, which has pointed the way to the Broadway producers. "Pins and Needles," which is still running here after slightly more than 300 performances, has been a sensation. What had started out as a pastime for members of the union soon began to draw the theater-wise, who laughed and applauded the sketches and songs which satirized international politics, with no names barred, and our own economic troubles.

Of course, this sort of thing could have been pretty sad, but fortunately most of the boys and girls who left their sewing machines and stock room to don grease paint, probably for the first time, panned out as good talent. And more fortunately the material—most of the words and music—and the direction of the work of a couple of young men who definitely have something—Harold J. Rome, composer-author, and Charles Friedman, director.

To continue with the theater's politico-economic activities, the New Theater League announces that "The Cradle Will Rock," that strictly unorthodox plot-musical dealing with a steel strike which quite set the town by its ears last season, will be performed simultaneously in 10 different cties here and abroad this fall as a result of the release of the national and international distribution rights of the complete distribution rights of the complete score and script by Marc Blitzstein.

The groups which definitely have contracted to perform "Cradle" are the London United Players, the Toronto Theater of Action, the Philadelphia New Theater, the Chicago Repertory Group, the New Orleans Group Theater, the Cleveland Lincoln Players, the Detroit Contemporary Theater, the San Francisco Theater Union, the Washington New Theater and the Boston Transit Theater.

Whether or not you agree with the play's union sentiments, which are quite strong, see it by all means if it comes your way because from a production standpoint it is decidedly different in the way of theatricals.

Economy

The word economy comes from the Greek word "oikos," meaning house. Economy is housewifeliness, the proper study for the homekeeper.

You can save money by using coarse grains, bought in the sack at a few cents a pound. They are good for mush, in muffins and griddle cakes. Have you learned to make good cakes and rolls with every-day flour? Do you buy in season?

Personal trips to the stores are economy practices—as well as health habits. They enable you to know what is available at a low price on that day, and you can so pick up many a bargain. Watch the advertising in your paper and buy at a savings. Do you handle your milk carefully to prevent waste and keep it sweet? Do you utilize sour milk or do you throw it out?

As Ironing Board

When traveling, one sometimes desires to do a little pressing in his room. As an ironing board for this purpose, the bottom of a dresser drawer will serve. Take out one of the large drawers, cover it with a Turkish towel and use your small electric traveler's iron. This will harm nothing. No considerate traveler would use a table or dresser top for this purpose.

Mrs. Solomon Says:

Consider how few things—not how many things—it takes to make one happy. Anxiety and discontent are the usual accompaniment of too many possessions.

AGREES TO QUIT—Known for three years as partners in one of filmland's happiest marriages, Franchot Tone and Joan Crawford have separated, according to a Hollywood announcement. Both said there were no plans for an immediate divorce.

Sour Milk

Don't consider it a calamity if milk sours, though even the name sounds repulsive. Its souring does not represent spoilage, but a change in nature. Bacteria, present in all milk, develop and use up the sugar in the milk and form an acid, lactic acid, which separates the protein from the water. These bacteria and the acid counteract disease germs in the system and are a milk laxative. Sour milk or buttermilk is a healthful drink.

In recipes, sour milk and buttermilk may be interchanged, but allowance must be made for more fat in whole milk which has soured, since buttermilk has the butter removed. Sour cream may be substituted for a part of the fat called for by the recipe.

To taste good and be its best, milk should sour rapidly, else other bacteria will develop in it and give it a bitter taste. For cooking, it should be really sour and thick. If milk has turned slightly sour, set it in a warm place and in an open bowl to sour quickly.

If you wish to make sour milk, put a commercial sour milk yeast tablet in it or add a teaspoon of vinegar for each cup of sweet milk. Evaporated milk may be soured in the same way. When using sour milk for cooking, to beat it first will break the curds and make it blend better with other ingredients.

In Europe, where they do not have refrigerators in many homes, they appreciate and use freely sour milk for cottage cheese, sauces for vegetables and meats, for cooking and the clabber to eat or drink. Russians add sour cream to soups. Sour milk makes a soft, rich cake which does not dry out as readily as one made with sweet milk. Sour milk may be substituted for sweet milk in recipes for pancakes, waffles, muffins, biscuits, puddings and cakes. The rule for substituting is: use a half teaspoon of sada for each cup of sour milk plus half as much baking powder as would be used if the milk were sweet.

Laundering Linens

White linens may be washed as any white clothes, but since linen is so absorptive it should not stand long in the bluing water or it will take up too much blue.

Linens do not hold the dye as well as cottons, so demand special care in laundering to keep them from fading. Much depends on speed all the way through the process. Never soak them. Wash them in a mild, lukewarm or cool suds, with the soap completely dissolved. Keep them moving in the water, rinse in several clear, cool water in a Turkish towel. Shake gently to help the drying, then roll in a dry towel and iron as soon as they are half dry.

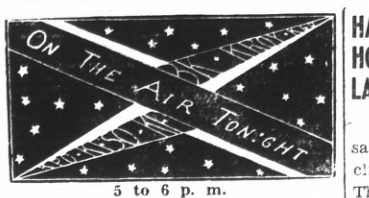

Be careful to iron with the grain of the fibre or it will bulge in spots. Iron completely dry, or it will tend to pucker.

Beauty

Beauty may be "but skin deep"; however dermatologists cannot make you lovely. The appearance of the skin, alas, reflects the condition of the organs underneath it: the liver, stomach, kidneys, intestines, et cetera.

The twin foundations of beauty are good health and a sweet soul. Fresh air, sleep, exercise, sound organs and a diet abounding in fruit and vegetables and short on fats and sugars make for health.

Love of your fellow men (and women) and a happy disposition will give you a kindly, pleasing expression. Infinite visits to the beauty parlor cannot make you beautiful, though they help. Other practical aids are: daily bathing, good posture and skillful grooming.

Bath Towels

To buy bath towels which will stand up under family punishment, buy only of reliable stores. Make sure that the selvages and hems are closely woven. See that the little loops or tufts are of even length and close together and that the texture is deep and soft. Hold the towel up to a strong light and note how much light comes through. If the weaving is firm and close you should see only tiny pin-holes of light. The towel should not "give" and slip when you pull it the long way and it should rumble like a blanket when you shake it.

HAWAII CLIPPER HUNT, HOPELESS, WILL LAST FOR WEEK

MANILA, (UP) — Military authorities said tonight the search for the Hawaii clipper, missing since 8:09 a. m. PST Thursday with 15 persons aboard, probably would be continued another week, unless a definite clue to the fate of the giant flying boat was discovered.

This announcement came at the end of the third day of searching the sea 565 miles east of Manila, where Captain Leo Terletzky of the ill-fated plane made his last report.

However, hope had been virtually abandoned that the fate of the clipper would ever be known.

WESTWOOD LUMBER ROW RESULTS IN PROBE BY U. S. AGENTS

WESTWOOD (UP)—The United States Department of Justice today opened an investigation of alleged vigilantism, unfair labor practices and violations of civil rights in the strike-torn town in which violence has long marked bitter union factional warfare.

Federal bureau of investigation agents established headquarters in adjacent Susanville on reports from Attorney General Homer Cummings. Nat Poiper, agent in charge, said Cummings ordered the investigation after considering more than 100 affidavits from the Committee for Industrial Organization refugees who were driven from the town at gun point in a CIO purge.

$25,000 Fire Destroys Poultry Ass'n Plant

FRESNO, (UP)—An investigation was under way today to determine the origin of a fire which destroyed the $25,000 San Joaquin Valley Poultry Producers' Association plant here yesterday.

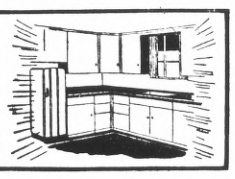

Fire Marshall L. A. Moore said he believed the blaze started from spontaneous combustion in stores of grain and straw. It spread rapidly through the plant.

CLASHES — Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, commander of the air station at Lakehurst N. J., who clashed with Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes over the export of helium to Germanl. Commander Rosendahl said he believed export of the gas could be controlled, to limit it to non-military uses. Mr. Ickes commented that the Commander had changed his mind, after being "wined and dined" in Germany. Commander Rosendahl retorted that he held the same opinion he expressed before a Congressional Committee in the summer of 1937. He asserted the wining and dining was entirely wasted on him.

As interesting as fiction but as true as gospel, are the amazing records established by these representative Champion Farmers of America who are brought to the national radio audience twice each week as guest stars on Firestone's Voice of the Farm radio series.

(1) Ralph L. Heilman, Indiana corn raiser, grew 895.5 bushels of corn on 5 acres—an average of 179.1 bushels per acre.

(2) A. C. Oosterhuis of Wisconsin, has a Holstein-Friesian cow that produced 17,000 quarts of milk in one year. She gave enough milk to supply 40 average city families.

(3) Paul Fisher, Indiana hog producer, has averaged better than 1 ton of pork per litter for the last two years. During that time his 10 brood sows have produced 43¾ tons of pork—enough to supply the pork needs of a small town.

(4) On Whidby Island, State of Washingfton, Harry S. Smith grew 1530 bushels of winter wheat on 17 acres, averaging 90 bushels per acre. On another "patch" of 74 acres, his 1938 yield was 73 bushels per acre.

(5) George McKerrow of Wisconsin, dean of all American shepherds, probably has won more sheep prizes than any other man in the world. He was 13 years old when he took home his first blue ribbon. Eighteen thousand prizes now adorn his trophy board. McKerrow's flock improvement program has entailed 15 crossings of the Atlantic Ocean to procure breeding stock.

The complete success stories of these men, along with the feats of 21 other Champion Farmers of America whose records are equally remarkable, have just been compiled by The Firestone Tire and Rubber Company in a booklet entitled "26 Interviews with Champion Farmers." Each interview is reprinted word for word, just as it was given over the air. It contains a wealth of invaluable information for progressive farmers who are looking for new and practical methods in the field of agriculture. The book is offered without charge fy Farm Implement Dealers, Firestone Tire Dealers, and Firestone Stores throughout the United States.

The Voice of the Farm program has been on the air since early last spring and has just been renewed for a second series of programs which will bring more Champion Farmers and leaders in agriculture to the radio audience twice each week at the noon hour throughout the fall and early winter.

ROOSEVELT RETURNS TO SAIL FISHING OFF COCOS ISLE

ABOARD U. S. S. HOUSTON, Cocos Isle, (By Naval Radio to the United Press)—President Roosevelt arrived at this tiny island about 450 miles west of Panama today for two days of sail fishing during which he hopes to land a sailfish bigger than the 135 pound specimen he caught here three years ago.

The Houston arrived after a cruise from San Salvador Island of the Galapago group, 380 miles away.

On a previous fishing expedition here in 1935, Mr. Roosevelt landed a 135-pound sail fish, nine feet six inches long.

Albert Lewis is asisting in the store at Phillips Resort.

Forest Supervisor and Mrs. Edwin F. Smith returned Sunday from Quincy, where Supervisor Smith had attended the regular conference of forest supervisors.
